Providing Meaningful and Effective Student Feedback

Effective feedback is essential as it provides you with information on what exactly you did well and what may still need improvement rather than a grade that only reflects on the proportion of correct answers.

CIS provides you with meaningful feedback that enhances your learning while giving teachers a better understanding of your progress in order to provide a more beneficial learning environment.

To provide more meaningful and effective you feedback, CIS implemented “the Portfolio-Based assessment”, which is able to reflect the process of learning for each student. Portfolios are collections of your activities, accomplishments and achievements that demonstrate your learning progress over time.

Benefits of Portfolio-Based Assessment

Portfolios demonstrate student learning and achievement more thoroughly than test scores do.

You are motivated to take a more active role in your study by monitoring your own progress.

By capturing your progress in a portfolio, you will be able to perform self-reflection and thus participate in setting realistic goals and developing learning plans.

Teachers can carry out ongoing and individualized assessments with the progress reflected in the portfolio.

Partial Refund Before a Program Begins

Students are entitled to a refund of fees paid for a program, except that CIS is allowed to retain 20% of the total fees for the program or $500, whichever is less if:

- The student gives the college notice that he or she is withdrawing from the program before the day the vocational program commences.
- A student does not meet the program's admission requirements before the program begins.
- CIS cancels the contract for the program within 45 days of the start of the program because a student does not attend the first 14 days of classes.
- The student is unable to obtain a student visa to enter Canada. Note that written notice must be received by CIS before half the portion of a program has passed.

Partial Refund After a Program Begins

Programs that are shorter than 12 months:

- When students withdraw from a program after the program begins, they are entitled to a refund of fees paid for the program, except that CIS is allowed to retain 20% of the total fees for the program or $500, whichever is less, plus fees earned by the college for the part of the program that has been delivered.
- CIS is not obligated to issue students any refund of fees for a program if students withdraw from the program after half the program has passed.
- CIS is required to provide students with the result of at least one evaluation before half the program has been delivered.

Partial Refund After a Program Begins

Programs that are 12 months or longer:

- Programs that are 12 months or longer are broken into 12-month periods for the purpose of calculating the refund. After the last 12-month period of a program has passed, the calculation is based on the remaining length of the program.

- For the current 12-month period in which students are in attendance, they are entitled to a refund of fees paid for that period, except that CIS is allowed to retain 20% of the total fees for the program or $500, whichever is less, plus fees earned by the college for the part of the program that has been delivered. In addition, students are entitled to a full refund of fees paid for any subsequent periods that have not begun at the time of withdrawal.
- If a student withdraws mid-week and more than half of the classes in a week have been delivered by CIS, the entire week is deemed delivered.
- CIS is required to provide students with the result of at least one evaluation before half a 12-month period has passed.
- CIS is not obligated to issue students any refund of fees paid for a 12-month period of a program if students withdraw after half of that period has passed. However, students are still entitled to a full refund of fees paid for any subsequent periods that have not begun at the time of withdrawal.

Fee Collection | International Students

- CIS charges and collects compulsory fees for a program as published on the ServiceOntario website, and never higher than what is published.

- Fails to return the books or equipment to CIS within 10 days of the student's withdrawal or expulsion from the program; or
